Historical Note

St. Rose Residence was founded in 1846 by Archbishop John Martin Henri to care for girls orphaned due to the cholera epidemic that had just ravished the city. Archbishop Henri wrote to the Daughters of Charity to come to Milwaukee in 1848, and it was founded at the same time and by the same sisters as St. Mary's Hospital. On October 31, 1850, St. Rose Orphan Society was granted incorporated status by the state of Wisconsin, and it became known as St. Rose Orphan Asylum in 1851. Originally, many of these girls were of Irish and German immigrant background, but in the 1860s, many of the residents of the home were from homes torn apart by the Civil War. In 1861, a new two-story brick building north of St. Mary's Hospital became the new structure for the Asylum. In 1880, Archbishop Henri requested that St. Rose be declared a diocesan institution, which occurred in 1882, and the orphan girls moved to a larger structure at North Point. It remained staffed by the sisters at this time. In 1924, the orphanage became a member of the Milwaukee Community Chest, the forerunner to the United Way. In 1938, the school program received accreditation from Milwaukee public schools, and the asylum began to shift to a Catholic social welfare model. The Daughters of Charity remained as administrators until 1977, when the institution became an independent non-profit organization. In 2010, St. Rose merged with Lad Lake, a non-sectarian organization to assist at-risk youth, and was renamed St. Rose Youth & Family Center.
